We frequently manage assets on a discretionary basis to ensure that we have the ability to make necessary changes on your behalf. However, we also handle relationships on a non-discretionary basis or strictly provide investment advice only, which is more common with our institutional, committee-based clients.

AGW manages a private fund (the “Fund”) that is exempt from registration under certain exemptions of the Investment Company Act of 1940. AGW is the investment adviser and general partner to a private equity fund of funds, AGW PE Access Vehicle: BPV – IV, LLC. AGW, at its sole discretion, may recommend clients invest in the Fund if they meet certain requirements. The Fund’s investment objectives and limitations are described in the Fund’s confidential private placement memorandum (the “PPM”), which is provided to each prospective investor prior to their investment.

AGW also provides the following services to retirement plan clients:

- Retirement Plan Provider Search and Selection
 - AGW provides Request for Proposal (“RFP”) services to assist plan sponsors in selecting their record-keeper or other third-party providers
- Retirement Plan Fee Benchmarking and Analysis
 - AGW provides comprehensive fee analysis, which provides plan sponsors with a complete review and benchmarking of all plan expenses and fees.
- Additional Services for Retirement Plans
 - AGW provides additional plan services which may include assistance with meeting minutes, required plan notices, participant education, and other plan related services.

The investment strategies utilized, and portfolios constructed and managed, depend on your specific investment objectives and goals as provided to us. Model portfolios and unaffiliated investment managers may be used as a part of this strategy. However, you have the opportunity to place reasonable restrictions on the type and percentage of individual investments to be held in the portfolio.

In managing your investment portfolio, we consider your:

- financial situation,
- risk tolerance,
- investment horizon,
- liquidity needs,
- tax considerations,
- investment objectives, and
- any other pertinent issues important to your state of affairs.

You should notify us promptly if there are any changes in your financial situation or investment objectives or if you wish to impose any reasonable restrictions upon the management of your account.

Separately Managed Accounts

We have also entered into agreements with various third parties, including, but not limited to, Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”), Callan Associates and Natixis Global Associates for access to a wide range of third-party investment managers representing a diverse array of investment strategies.

In some cases, we may recommend that you have your portfolio invested in separately managed accounts that are managed by one or more third-party investment managers. Within these accounts, most securities transactions are decided upon and executed by the third-party investment manager. Typically, the third-party investment manager exercises discretion in the management of your account.

The fee that you pay directly to the separate account manager under this arrangement does not include the advisory fee paid to AGW Capital Advisors. We will monitor the performance of your portfolio manager and provide you with ongoing advice concerning your portfolio.

Written Acknowledgment of Fiduciary Status

When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we are compensated for these services is viewed as a conflict of interest. Due to this conflict of interest, we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Under these provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Provide basic information about conflicts of interest.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

Investment Management and Consulting Services

We offer our investment management and consulting services on a “fee-only” basis. Generally, our fee is calculated based upon the market value of the assets in your account on the last day of the previous quarter, except in the initial quarter as described later in this section.

Broker-dealers and other financial institutions that hold client accounts are referred to as custodians (“custodian/broker-dealer”). Your custodian/broker-dealer determines the values of the assets in your portfolio.

Fees for the initial quarter of our relationship with you are based on the value of your cash and securities as stated by each account in your client agreement as evidenced by the third-party account statement and/or the account value on the date the custodian/broker-dealer receives them and are prorated based upon the number of calendar days in the calendar quarter that our agreement is in effect.

Our standard fee schedule for investment management and consulting services is as follows:

Assets under Management	Advisory Fee¹
First $5,000,000	1.00%
Next $5,000,000	0.75%
Next $15,000,000	0.50%
Over $25,000,000	0.25%

¹All fees are negotiable at our sole discretion.

In general, our clients pay our advisory fees in advance of receiving our services; under certain circumstances, AGW may bill clients for its services in arrears. Should you terminate the advisory agreement we have entered into within five (5) business days from the date the agreement is executed, you will receive a full refund of any fees paid.

Should either one of us terminate the advisory agreement we have entered into before the end of a billing period, any unearned fees that were deducted from your account will be returned to you by us. The amount refunded to you is calculated as prescribed in the advisory agreement.

Any unpaid fees become immediately due and payable.

Project-Based Fees

From time to time, AGW Capital Advisors is asked to do “project work” (e.g. investment manager searches, peer reviews, investment policy review or other services) that is not included under a pre-existing fee agreement. In these cases, AGW Capital Advisors will negotiate a customized fee arrangement (e.g., a fixed dollar amount, etc). We may require some or all of this fee to be paid in advance of commencing our work or achieving certain milestones (e.g., an interim or final presentation or report).

Project-based assignments terminated before completion of the plan are charged the agreed upon fee.

Performance Reporting Only Fees

AGW Capital Advisors provides performance reporting through a third-party and on occasion is asked to provide performance reporting for clients that includes assets and/or accounts that are not covered under the scope of an advisory fee relationship. In these cases, AGW Capital Advisors will provide such third-party performance reporting for an agreed upon fixed fee per account.

Direct Fee Debit

Authorization must be provided in writing for the custodian/broker-dealer to pay us directly by charging your account. One-fourth of the annual fee is charged each calendar quarter.

Advisory fees may be billed directly to you if you so direct in writing.

If requested, we will send you an invoice that includes the value of your investments, our advisory fee, and how it is calculated. Your custodian/broker-dealer also provides you with statements that show the amount paid directly to us. You should compare the invoice that you requested to your custodian/broker-dealer's statement and verify the calculation of our fees. Your custodian/broker-dealer does not verify the accuracy of fee calculations.

Additional Fees and Expenses

In addition to our fee, you may be required to pay other charges such as:

- custodial fees,
- brokerage commissions,
- transaction fees,
- internal fees and expenses charged by mutual funds or exchange traded funds ("ETFs"),
- third-party investment manager fees,
- fees for separately managed account, and
- other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions.

None of these fees are paid to or are shared with us.

Internal Fees and Expenses of Mutual Funds, ETFs, and Variable Annuities

Mutual fund companies, ETFs, and variable annuity issuers charge internal fees and expenses for their products. Complete details of these internal fees and expenses are explained in the prospectuses for each investment. You are strongly encouraged to read these explanations before investing any money. We encourage you to ask us any questions that you may have about fees and expenses.

If you purchase mutual funds through the custodian/broker-dealer, you may pay a transaction fee that would not be charged if the transactions were made directly through the mutual fund company. Also, mutual funds held in accounts at brokerage firms may pay internal fees that are different from funds held at the mutual fund company.

Separately Managed Accounts

A complete description of the programs and services provided, the amount of total fees, the payment structure, termination provisions and other aspects of each program are detailed and disclosed in: (1) the applicable third-party investment manager's brochure; (2) the disclosure documents of the portfolio manager or managers selected; or (3) the Investment Strategy Proposal. Copies of all disclosure documents relevant to separately managed account programs and of the individual money manager(s) will be provided to any client interested in these programs/managers.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees

Performance-based fees are designed to give a portion of the returns of an investment to the investment adviser as a reward for positive performance. The fee is generally a percentage of the profits made on the investments.

We do not charge performance-based fees on any of our client accounts, but in some cases, the investment managers that we recommend can charge such fees.

Item 7: Types of Clients

We provide services to corporations or business entities, including their pension and profit-sharing plans, state or municipal government entities, charitable organizations, and insurance companies. We also provide advisory services to high-net-worth individuals, including their trusts, estates and retirement accounts.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

We have access to software tools that assist in analyzing client portfolios. Such software may be based upon Modern Portfolio Theory (“MPT”). MPT attempts to balance a portfolio’s risk and return level based on your particular risk tolerance and investment objectives. Additional research and software used in conjunction with the asset allocation software includes, but is not limited to:

- risk tolerance assessments,
- performance analysis and evaluation,
- efficient frontier plotting,
- fund profiling,
- stress testing,
- asset liability modeling,
- Monte Carlo simulation, and
- portfolio optimization and re-balancing.

We frequently utilize the services of unaffiliated investment managers to implement our investment advice. We analyze individual managers based upon their performance, track record, investment strategy, research reports on and comparison of managers, and/or their disclosure documents.

We screen data on a diverse group of investment managers and securities (e.g., mutual funds, ETFs) using a variety of factors, including, but not limited to:

- investment performance,
- risk statistics,
- holdings analysis of managed account portfolios,
- assets under management,
- investment philosophy, and
- investment management team.

This analysis is incorporated into customizable client proposals. Factors considered in the selection of a particular investment include, but may not be limited to:

- your preference for a particular investment;
- your risk tolerance, goals and objectives, as well as investment experience; and

- the amount of your assets available for investment.

In order to assist you in the selection of an investment manager or security, we typically gather information from you about your financial situation, investment objectives, and reasonable restrictions you want imposed on the management of the account.

Although we manage your portfolio in a manner consistent with your risk tolerances, there can be no guarantee that our efforts will be successful. You should be prepared to bear the risk of loss.

We implement investment strategies for both long-term and short-term investors. You may place reasonable restrictions on the strategies to be employed in your portfolio and the types of investments to be held in your portfolio.

All investments involve risks that can result in certain types of loss including:

- loss of principal,
- a reduction in earnings (including interest, dividends and other distributions), and
- the loss of future earnings.

Additionally, these risks may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- market risk,
- interest rate risk,
- issuer risk, and
- general economic risk.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

AGW has no legal or disciplinary events to report that are material to its advisory business or the integrity of its management.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

AGW Capital Advisors LLC is the manager of AGW PE Access Vehicle: BPV – IV, LLC, a private fund. We will recommend investments in this private fund to those clients for which investment in the fund is suitable. Fees paid by clients invested in this private fund are commensurate with their overall fee schedule. We act in the best interest of the client consistent with its fiduciary duties and clients are not required to invest in the private fund if they do not wish to do so.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

We have adopted a Code of Ethics (“Code”) to address the securities-related conduct of our advisory representatives and employees. The Code includes our policies and procedures developed to protect your interests in relation to the following:

- the duty at all times to place your interests ahead of ours;
- that all personal securities transactions of our advisory representatives and employees be conducted in a manner consistent with the Code and avoid any actual or potential conflict of interest, or any abuse of an advisory representative’s or employee’s position of trust and responsibility;
- that advisory representatives may not take inappropriate advantage of their positions;
- that information concerning the identity of your security holdings and financial circumstances are confidential; and
- that independence in the investment decision-making process is paramount.

We will provide a copy of the Code to you or any prospective client upon request.

We may buy or sell securities for our firm that we also recommend to clients. Our advisory representatives and employees are also permitted to buy or sell the same securities for their personal and family accounts that are bought or sold for your account(s). The personal securities transactions by advisory representatives and employees may raise potential conflicts of interest when they trade in a security that is:

- owned by you or
- considered for purchase or sale for you.

We have adopted policies and procedures that are intended to address these conflicts of interest. These policies and procedures:

- require our advisory representatives and employees to act in your best interest,
- prohibit favoring one client over another, and
- provide for the review of transactions to discover and correct any same-day trades that result in an advisory representative or employee receiving a better price than a client.

Advisory representatives and employees must follow our procedures when purchasing or selling the same securities purchased or sold for you.

AGW Capital Advisors LLC is the manager of AGW PE Access Vehicle: BPV – IV, LLC, a private fund. We will recommend investments in this private fund to those clients for which investment in the fund is suitable. Fees paid by clients invested in this private fund are commensurate with their overall fee schedule. We act in the best interest of the client consistent with its fiduciary duties and clients are not required to invest in the private fund if they do not wish to do so.

AGW's Principals and associated Persons may maintain investments directly in the Fund. This creates a conflict in that it could cause AGW to make different investment decisions than if such parties did not have such financial ownership interests. However, AGW believes that such financial interests align AGW's incentives with investors.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

We are independently owned and operated and not affiliated with any broker-dealer/custodian ("custodian"). A custodian assists us in servicing your accounts. As a result, we will recommend certain custodians be the custodian for your account. Our custodian may provide us with certain brokerage and research products and services that qualify as "brokerage or research services" under Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act").

The custodian is responsible for executing transactions for your portfolios. The determining factor in the selection of the custodian to execute transactions for your accounts is not the lowest possible transaction cost, but whether the custodian can provide what is, in our view, the best qualitative execution for your account. Some factors we consider when evaluating custodian may include at a minimum, the custodian's:

- financial strength,

- reputation,
- reporting capabilities,
- execution capabilities,
- pricing,
- types and quality of research, and
- existing relationship with us.

Custodians may provide us with access to their institutional trading and custody services, which can include:

- brokerage,
- custody,
- research, and
- access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment.

We are not required to affect a minimum volume of transactions or maintain a minimum dollar amount of client assets to receive these services.

A custodian may or may not charge separately for holding our clients' accounts, but could be compensated by you through other transaction-related fees associated with the securities transactions it executes for your accounts.

The custodians we recommend, make available to us products and services that assist us in managing and administering our client accounts, such as software and other technology that:

- provides access to account data, such as:
 - duplicate trade confirmations,
 - bundled duplicate account statements, and
 - access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information;
- facilitates trade execution, including:
 - access to a trading desk serving advisory participants exclusively, and
 - access to block trading which provides the ability to combine securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate number of shares to each individual account;
- provides research, pricing information and other market data;

- facilitates payment of our fees from client accounts;
- assists with back-office functions, record keeping and client reporting; and
- provides receipt of compliance publications.

The custodian also makes available to us other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business. These services may include:

- consulting,
- publications and conferences,
- information technology,
- business succession,
- regulatory compliance, and
- marketing.

The custodian may also make available or arrange for these types of services to be provided to us by independent third-parties. The custodian may discount or waive the fees it would otherwise charge for some of the services it makes available to us. It may also pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to us. Thus, we receive economic benefits as a result of our relationship with the custodian, because we do not have to produce or purchase the products and services listed above.

Because the benefits from the products or services we could receive may vary depending on the custodian we recommend be used by our clients, this results in a conflict of interest in making that recommendation. Our recommendation for a specific custodian is influenced, in part, by a benefit to us and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided to you and our other clients. We nonetheless strive to act in your best interests at all times and we are open to working with any custodian you should choose.

Commissions and other fees for transactions executed through certain custodians have the potential to be higher or lower than commissions and other fees available if you were to use another custodian firm to execute transactions and maintain custody of your account. We believe, however, that the overall level of services and support provided to our clients by custodians we recommend outweigh the benefit of possibly lower transactions cost that may be available under other brokerage arrangements.

Many of the services described above are used to benefit all or a substantial number of our accounts, including accounts not maintained at or through these custodians. We do not attempt to allocate these benefits to specific clients.

You may direct us in writing to use a particular broker-dealer to execute some or all of the transactions for your account. If you do so, you are responsible for negotiating the terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer. We may not be able to negotiate commissions, obtain volume discounts, or best execution. In addition, under these circumstances a difference in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to clients who direct us to use a particular broker or dealer and other clients who do not direct us to use a particular broker or dealer.

We do not aggregate brokerage orders for clients.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Client accounts are monitored on an ongoing basis with a formal review conducted periodically or as agreed upon with individual clients. The reviews focus on investment returns and the consistency of portfolio investments with your financial status, stated objectives and risk tolerance. Reviews also consider investment restrictions requested by you, investment time horizons, liquidity needs, tax considerations and other circumstances unique to you.

Account reviews may also be triggered by other factors such as changes in general economic and market conditions, analyst reports, interest rate movement, your comfort level with the strategy, life-changing events, changes within an investment manager's organization, changing markets that may dictate different strategies, and the availability of new products that may enhance portfolios. Your advisory representative is responsible for all reviews.

As stated previously, you will receive statements from the custodian at least quarterly. You may also receive performance analysis reports prepared by us which describe the returns realized on the investments in your account.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

We do not engage third party solicitors to refer potential clients to us. However, we compensate our employees for client referrals for our services. Thus, employees have a financial interest in the selection of AGW by the client for investment management services.

Item 15: Custody

With client written authority, we have limited custody of clients' assets through direct fee deduction of our fees. You will receive statements from the custodian that holds your investment account on at least a quarterly basis. We urge you to carefully review these statements. You should verify that the transactions in your account are consistent with your investment goals and the objectives for your account. We also encourage you to contact your advisory representative or our Chief Compliance Officer should you have any questions or concerns regarding your account.

Additionally, we also have custody over certain client funds via the ability to access client funds for the purposes of bill paying services. We maintain safeguards in accordance with regulatory requirements regarding custody of client assets. Because AGW is considered to maintain custody of select client funds or securities under the above situations, AGW undergoes an unannounced annual audit by an independent Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("PCAOB") registered accounting firm. The annual audit report will be filed electronically through IARD by the independent public accountant performing the surprise examination.

AGW, in its capacity as general partner or manager, is deemed to have custody of the Fund's assets under Rule 206(4)-(2) of the Advisers Act (the "Custody Rule"). AGW has implemented policies and procedures to comply with the Custody Rule's requirements. The Fund is required to complete an annual audit by an independent public accountant that is registered with and subject to regular inspection by the PCAOB.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

We offer our advisory services on both a discretionary and nondiscretionary basis. When we offer our services on a discretionary basis, this means that we do not need advance approval from you to determine the type and amount of securities to be bought and sold for your accounts. When we offer our advisory services on a non-discretionary basis, this means that we need advance approval from you to determine the type and amount of securities to be bought and sold for your accounts. Even on a discretionary basis, we do not have the ability to choose the broker-dealer through which transactions will be executed. Additionally, we do not have the ability to withdraw funds from your account (other than to withdraw our advisory fees which, may only be done with your prior written authorization). This discretion is used in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for your account, if you have given us written authorization to do so. We only exercise discretion in accounts where we have been authorized by you. This authorization is typically included in the investment advisory agreement (i.e., Client Agreement) you enter into with us.

Typically, the third-party investment managers exercise discretion in the management of your accounts; however, we are also granted discretionary authority in the management of your accounts, as well as the discretionary authority to hire and fire such third-party managers and to apply tax-loss harvesting strategies through the managed accounts.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

We do not take any action or give any advice with respect to voting of proxies solicited by or with respect to the issuers of securities in which your accounts may be invested. In addition, we do not take any action or give any advice with respect to any securities held in any accounts that are named in or subject to class action lawsuits.

Item 18: Financial Information

We have no financial commitment that impairs our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to you, and we have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
